TWO MEN ARRESTED ON SPYING CHARGES

F.B.I. Asserts American Sold Plans of Weapons to Polish Agent

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 28 — An American and a Polish national were arrested today near Los Angeles on espionage charges in connection with the sale of secret weapons documents to the Polish intelligence service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said.

The two men in custody were identified as William Holden Bell, 61 years old, a former employee of the Hughes Aircraft Company of El Segundo, Calif., and Marian W. Zacharski, 29, head of the American operations of the Polish American Machinery Company of Elk Grove Village, Ill., the F.B.I. said.

Both are residents of Playa del Rey, Calif., where the arrests were made, although Mr. Zacharski also maintains a home in Elk Grove Village, the bureau said. The bureau said that until recently Mr. Zacharski was West Coast manager for the machinery company.

$110,000 in Payments Alleged

"For more than a year Bell allegedly furnished classified Hughes Aircraft documents to Zacharski and other Polish intelligence service officers abroad and in exchange received cash payments totaling more than $110,000," the F.B.I. said in a statement.

"These highly classified documents were exchanged at locations in this country and Europe and pertained to U.S. military weapons and radar systems," the bureau asserted.

The specific weapons that were the subject of the documents were not further identified.
